

7 REASONS TO WORK OR TRAIN FOR A NEW CAREER NOW!

1 JOBS AVAILABLE RIGHT NOW

There are jobs available right now during the pandemic with motivated employers.

2 TRY SOMETHING NEW

Meet with a career development professional to help you find out more about yourself and determine a new career path.

3 WHAT DID YOU DO DURING THE PANDEMIC?

Futures job interviewers will be asking what you did during the pandemic. Don't wait until the CERB runs out, contact your local employment centre now to get you back in the workforce and stand above the crowd.

4 AVOID THE RUSH

Did you know that all services through employment centres are free? Get ahead of the curve and let one of our many centres across BC help you with your resume, interview skills and networking before the rush. The wait times for services are minimal right now so don't wait!

5 FIND A NEW SKILL

It's a good time to access supports to find a new skill or job training while collecting the CERB. You qualify for free services that can include specialized skill training for in-demand jobs.

6 EMPLOYERS WILL KEEP YOU SAFE

Employers are implementing safety protocols to ensure your safety.

7 BARRIERS TO EMPLOYMENT?

If you have barriers to employment, now is a good time to gain access to motivated employers. Your local employment service provider can help you find the hidden job market and put you in touch with added supports.

This list was compiled with help from your community-based employment service providers. Google search "Employment Services" in your community to find your local providers. Call now to set up an appointment or visit their websites to access available virtual services. These services are FREE to use.
